

READ THE
SPORTING EDITION
OF THE
EVENING WORLD
THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.
PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.
LOVE FINDS THE WAY

The Remarkable Marriage of James
Gill and Lulu Lascell.

Their Wedding Tour a Long Walk in the Rain.

Their Bridal Chamber a Cell in a
Brooklyn Police Station.

"Love will find a way," even under the most unpropitious circumstances. He laughed at that great locksmith. Poverty in the case of James Gill and Lulu Lascell.

Their bridal chamber was a cell in a Brooklyn police station and their wedding tour a long walk in the rain.

Lulu and James met in a shower of rain last evening. Both were wet to the skin; and many lives company.

Lulu had been a widow two weeks, and the stranger who had taken refuge under the same Williamsburg awning with her reminded her of her dear departed. He said something cheery and his voice seemed like a voice from the grave.

An acquaintance was struck up that speedily blossomed into love, like a crocus in an April shower.

"But I haven't a cent!" ruefully exclaimed James.

"That's all right, I know where a parson is," he said. "I'll marry you on credit. He married me, and he'll marry me again, just for old times," chirped the plump little wife.

"Besides, mellow the parson can tell me where to find my stepfather, who is an opulent sugar snap and peanut candy magnate somewhere in this town."

James pulled the collar of his steady Prince Albert closer up around his neck, and the couple repaired to the residence of Rev. J. J. White, at South Thirtieth Street.

Mr. White is pastor of the Independent Methodist Church, at Bedford Avenue and South Thirtieth Street. He is more than seventy years old, and with patriarchal white hair.

Lulu explained the situation to him. Since he married her, years ago, she had lived in Plainfield, N. J. She had come, a widow, back to Brooklyn to look for her stepfather.

MONDAY—THE WORLD'S HALF-RATE SITUATION DAYS—SATURDAY.
WRIGHT LIES IN GREENWOOD.
NEW YORK, FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1891.

NO RELAXATION OF "GRIP."
Weather Conditions Increase the Virulence of the Epidemic.

The Schools Still Afflicted—Death Rate for the Week Will Exceed 1,100.

Tipsters' Opinions on the Various Winners To-Day.

The programme at Coney Island to-day is a very good one, but it will probably be more or less spoiled by the heavy going.

The second race is at six furlongs. Alderman Mac may win. Handling in mud is the best point, and that he has speed was shown in his past races.

The fourth race is at a mile and a quarter. Ed McGinnis looks to have all the best of the weights and should win handsily.

The fifth race, at six furlongs, will probably go to Ender, Khatan. If in any kind of shape, should make a bold bid for the place.

The sixth race is at seven furlongs. Marah Redon's performance the other day shows him to be in first-class shape and he ought to win handsily.

Refer to the Sporting World makes these selections:
First Race—Bull Duke, Glory.
Second Race—Francis S., Xenophon.
Third Race—Dixie, Deer Lodge.
Fourth Race—Cassella, Bohemian.
Fifth Race—Meriden, Ender.
Sixth Race—Silent, Harry Russell.

From Other Morning Papers.
First Race—Glory, Newcastle.
Second Race—Francis S., Nubian.
Third Race—Dixie, Deer Lodge.
Fourth Race—Cassella, Bohemian.
Fifth Race—Ender, Meriden.
Sixth Race—Silent, Harry Russell.

Lulu explained the situation to him. Since he married her, years ago, she had lived in Plainfield, N. J. She had come, a widow, back to Brooklyn to look for her stepfather.

Mr. White is pastor of the Independent Methodist Church, at Bedford Avenue and South Thirtieth Street. He is more than seventy years old, and with patriarchal white hair.

Lulu explained the situation to him. Since he married her, years ago, she had lived in Plainfield, N. J. She had come, a widow, back to Brooklyn to look for her stepfather.

Mr. White is pastor of the Independent Methodist Church, at Bedford Avenue and South Thirtieth Street. He is more than seventy years old, and with patriarchal white hair.

Lulu explained the situation to him. Since he married her, years ago, she had lived in Plainfield, N. J. She had come, a widow, back to Brooklyn to look for her stepfather.

WRIGHT LIES IN GREENWOOD.
The Astor House Suicide Buried Under His Own Name.

Hearing in Sumner's Habeas Corpus Postponed Till To-Morrow.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

William Wright, who died Feb. 8, 1891, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

The body of William Wright, the Astor House suicide of Feb. 8, was buried to-day for the second time. But it received decent interment, such as is the one of the social standing of the Wright family in England and far different from that in which "Fred Evans" the comic was buried in a trench on Hart's Island March 3.

TWO WERE ITALY'S CITIZENS.
Rudini's Clamor Was Over One Murderer and One Thug.

The Other Lynched Italians Registered New Orleans Voters.

Special to the Evening World. NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—The report of the Attorney-General of Louisiana on the New Orleans massacre, which has been asked for by the Federal Government, is expected to deal very particularly with the questions of the citizenship and previous records of the Italians who were killed by the mob on March 14.

Regarding those eleven men a careful search of the records of the registration office discloses the fact that the following named were registered voters under the provisions of the Constitution of Louisiana:

Joseph N. Basso, registered Oct. 8, 1888, from 308 St. Claude street; native of Louisiana. Frank Romero, registered April 3, 1888, from 115 St. Ann street, on naturalization papers obtained before the Fourth District Court, April 6, 1886; born in Italy.

Rocco Gera, registered under the name of Francesco Gera, from 201 Bourbon street, Oct. 2, 1887, naturalized Jan. 3, 1890, Civil District Court; native of Italy.

Manuel Politi never registered, but declared his intentions before the Criminal District Court Oct. 13, 1890.

James Caruso registered Sep. 18, 1888, from 308 St. Claude street, on declaration papers; native of Italy.

Antonio Marchese, registered Oct. 3, 1890, from 312 Lafayette street, on declaration papers; native of Italy.

Antonio Scatelli, registered, Oct. 3, 1890, from 219½ Dryades street, on declaration papers; native of Italy.

Antonio Nardone, registered Dec. 26, 1887, on declaration of intention papers, from his residence, 224 Poydras street; native of Italy.

That leave comes, Monasterio, and Trains, however, voted at the last election in St. Charles Parish. Proof of this will soon be at hand.

All, therefore, that Minister Parra can have any legitimate interest in are Comites and Monasterio, although he lays claim to Bagno and Trains. As to their character, information is at hand to the following effect:

Lower Anthony, alias Antonio Bagno, alias Antonio Bagno, is well known to the authorities of Palermo. He worked in the sulphur mines in that and Girgenti province until 1875, when he became a fugitive from justice, after having killed Pietro Vaccaro, a fellow laborer. He fled to the hills about Palermo, and was captured in 1876, when he was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for life.

Lower Anthony, alias Antonio Bagno, alias Antonio Bagno, is well known to the authorities of Palermo. He worked in the sulphur mines in that and Girgenti province until 1875, when he became a fugitive from justice, after having killed Pietro Vaccaro, a fellow laborer. He fled to the hills about Palermo, and was captured in 1876, when he was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for life.

UNCLE SAM—DON'T BE TOO HARD ON ME, SONNY
WHY DON'T YOU FIGHT SOME ONE YOUR SIZE

ITALY—On reflection, there is some sense in your remarks.

THE LAST OF THE BATGATES.
Pneumonia Exterminates the Famous Family Within a Month.

June, the Fourth Victim, Will Be Buried Sunday Afternoon.

The last of the Batgates has gone. Within a month the four surviving members of this famous family have been carried away by pneumonia, and the old household, which has been one of the landmarks of the upper end of the city, will in all probability pass into the hands of strangers.

Miss Margaret Ann Batgate died March 3, her two brothers, Alexander Batgate and Dr. James Batgate, who were in apparently good health, and the old household, which has been one of the landmarks of the upper end of the city, will in all probability pass into the hands of strangers.

Charles Batgate, who was in the family for many years, died within a few minutes of each other March 3.

James Batgate, who was in the family for many years, died within a few minutes of each other March 3.

The family sprung from a worthy Scotch Presbyterian couple, Charles and Mary Batgate, who came to this country early in the century and became tenants of "Governor Morris on the Morris Place, West Farms."

They had six children, John and Charles, long since dead; Dr. James, Alexander, Jane (Mrs. Beck) and Margaret Ann. In 1854 they bought the Batgate farm known to New Yorkers as the Batgate Homestead.

The family at that time consisted of the father, John, who was a farmer, and the mother, Mary, who was a housewife. They had six children, John and Charles, long since dead; Dr. James, Alexander, Jane (Mrs. Beck) and Margaret Ann.

The family at that time consisted of the father, John, who was a farmer, and the mother, Mary, who was a housewife. They had six children, John and Charles, long since dead; Dr. James, Alexander, Jane (Mrs. Beck) and Margaret Ann.

IN DARKEST WESTCHESTER.
A TALE THAT RIVALS THAT OF STANLEY.
STOCKTON'S GREAT STORY.
In the SUNDAY WORLD.
PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.
PARNELL BEATEN.

A McCarthy Majority of 808 Voter in North Sligo.

Ald. Colliery to Succed Peter MacDonald in the Commons.

Official Count of the Ballots Cast in the Division.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR THE ASSOCIATION. SLIGO, April 3.—Official figures of yesterday's election in the North Division of Sligo, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the death of Peter MacDonald are as follows:

Colliery, (McCarthy) 810.
Dillon, (Parnell) 2,890.
Majority against Mr. Parnell's candidate, 806.

TEN KILLED IN A COLLIERY.
Terrific Explosion This Morning at Apedale, North Staffordshire.

DOUGLAS CARLIS WIRE SPECIAL. LONDON, April 3.—A alarming colliery explosion occurred at Apedale, North Staffordshire, early this morning, resulting in the killing of seven men and three boys.

It is supposed to have been caused by the improper firing of a blast.

At 11 o'clock the bodies of the dead were brought up in a terribly battered and almost unrecognizable condition.

The colliery belongs to the Midland Coal and Coke Iron Company and adjoins the Hurley pit, where nineteen lives were lately lost.

SETTLED IT WITH A SHOTGUN.
An Ex-Legislator's Head Blown Off in Arkansas.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. ST. LOUIS, April 3.—James A. Beason, a prominent Republican politician of Greenburg, has been retained as counsel by the officers of the miners' organization in the matter of the affray at the Frick Works at Monroeville, where the coke workers were shot yesterday by the deputy sheriff, and he headed the inquest opening last evening.

The deputies' side of the testimony will be presented to-day. They claim that numerous warnings to halt were given to the mob and that only after they had been fired on several times did they return the fire, when the rioters were in close quarters with them.

They will present testimony that four of the dead were found on the Company's property. The Tenth Regiment of State troops arrived at Mount Pleasant at midnight last night and marched down to Monroeville, relieving the sheriff and his deputies. There are about four hundred men in the regiment, and it includes companies from Brighton, Washington, Waynesburg, Freeport and Greensburg, besides Company E of this place.

Cap. Loe, who was in command of the deputies yesterday, assumed command of Company E.